

Democrats Deadlocked in Thirtieth Ballot

Leaders Still Are Holding Positions

Smith Gains Slightly on McAdoo, But General Situation Is Unchanged

THIRTIETH BALLOT SEES ADJOURNMENT
Backers of Leader Admit Shifts Look Bad For Wilson's Son-in-Law

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 1.—After balloting through two more long sessions, the Democratic National Convention adjourned last night with its fight over the presidential nomination still a draw.

Despite material losses and threats of more, McAdoo still was in the lead in the thirtieth and last ballot taken here last night, with Smith climbing steadily, but still short of even a third of the total delegate strength.

Smith's total on the final ballot tonight was sixteen less than he received on the first ballot yesterday morning and despite the renewed declarations of confidence by his leaders they manifestly were unavailing. Neither of the big blocs of votes lost by McAdoo went to his principal rival, but the vote was split among fifteen ballots, three of which went to the Wilsons, two to the Smiths, and the rest to various other candidates.

A group of women delegates from Missouri, who from their seats in the front rows of the delegate arena, have taken a leading part in all the McAdoo floor demonstrations, were a majority of their colleagues voted to leave McAdoo and carried the vote of the whole delegation to Davis under the unit rule.

Thirteen names were put before the convention when the adjourned session at the end of thirty ballots in which party leaders declared their vote had been paralleled in national conventions. In addition to McAdoo, Smith, Davis and Wilson, who drew their votes from a wide group of states, Blanton, of Virginia, and Clegg, of Ohio, and Cox and Owens had their state delegations solidly behind them, making the break-up camp.

After ten minutes of light chatter, the hall began pouring for the delegates to the adjourned session at 11 p. m. The hall was crowded with delegates, and the adjourned session was held at 11:30 p. m.

The twenty-fifth ballot, failed to produce a majority for any one of the candidates, and the adjourned session was held at 11:30 p. m.

The twenty-sixth ballot, failed to produce a majority for any one of the candidates, and the adjourned session was held at 11:30 p. m.

The twenty-seventh ballot, failed to produce a majority for any one of the candidates, and the adjourned session was held at 11:30 p. m.

The twenty-eighth ballot, failed to produce a majority for any one of the candidates, and the adjourned session was held at 11:30 p. m.

William Jennings Bryan Breaks Into Print With Great Granddaughter

NEW YORK, July 1.—"Boys, I have a piece of news for you," said William Jennings Bryan, to the Democratic convention newspaper men tonight.

A great granddaughter was born today to Mr. Bryan. The parents are William P. Meeker and Kitty Owen Meeker, Mr. Bryan's oldest granddaughter.

Roche Lancet Advises the Squadron Head to "Mind His Own Business"

OTTAWA, July 1.—(Canadian Press).—A statement reported to have been made at Victoria, B.C., by Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, in command of the British expedition, visiting Canada, that the Dominion should equip four cruisers for service on the Atlantic and two on the Pacific was the subject of sharp questioning in the House of Commons today.

"In view of the fact," said Mr. McMaster, "that this country is a naval power, it is the duty of the government to maintain a fleet of ships which will enable it to protect its commerce and its colonies, and to maintain its position as a great power."

The Hon. E. Macdonald, Minister of Naval Defence, replied that the government was not in a position to make the statement at present, but that it was being considered.

The Hon. J. G. Macdonald, Minister of Finance, said that the government was not in a position to make the statement at present, but that it was being considered.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND GIVEN DEPOSITORS

Committee on Banking and Commerce Brings in Exhaustive Summary

OTTAWA, July 1.—(Canadian Press).—The committee on Banking and Commerce brought out in the interim report submitted by Chief Justice McKeown, the subject of the Home Bank, to establish that the depositors of the Home Bank have a moral claim in equity for compensation by the country on account of the loss they may suffer by reason of the failure of the Home Bank.

This is the concluding paragraph of a report made to the House of Commons this afternoon by the Banking and Commerce Committee in regard to the claim of the Home Bank depositors for reimbursement.

At the same time a further dividend of ten per cent.—or thirty-five per cent in all—on the deposits of the Home Bank was made today by the committee.

The committee also recommended that the government should make a moral claim in equity for compensation by the country on account of the loss they may suffer by reason of the failure of the Home Bank.

HEAT RECORDS ARE SMASHED AS EDMONTONIANS SWELTER

Setting a new high mark for the present century in Edmonton, the thermometer yesterday registered ninety six degrees in the shade, between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Only in three occasions in the last twenty four years has the thermometer approached such heights here. On those occasions the thermometer showed the high mark, August 2, 1922, July 17, 1920 and in the summer of 1902.

The hot wave of July 1 this year was the more remarkable because it followed an unusually cool June. Within the memory of the oldest residents, this year's June has been the coolest summer season known in Alberta. Yesterday by all odds was the hottest day experienced.

LONDON—The number of women police in England has been reduced by 10 per cent, it was disclosed today by the British Federation, National Women's Police Association.

The women police force in England numbered 14,000 in 1930, but this year only 12,600 are on duty, a 9.3 per cent reduction. In the last year, 1934, the force numbered 13,000, a 4.3 per cent reduction from the previous year.

The women police force in England is the largest in the world, and is the only one in which women are permitted to carry firearms.

Harvard University are again jointly putting in order the tomb of Con-

Rumford in Paris. In the Franco-German war it was damaged by a shell and the Academy and the university had to evacuate. Since that time the institution has been effaced and again these institutions are restoring it.

Count Rumford, born in Woburn, Mass., in 1733, and graduated in a ship in Salem, rose to great heights in the diplomatic service of the British Empire. He was knighted by George III. He served for twenty years as a Minister of War and later as Minister of Police and Grand Chamberlain to the Elector, Prince Maximilian, in Bavaria. In addition to his political pursuits, he devoted himself to his philosophical studies and scientific research, and was noted as a chemist.

He found the Rumford Medal of the American Society of Arts and Sciences, and established the Rumford Fellowship in Harvard, now held by Professor George W. Pierce of the physics department.

A portrait of Count Rumford, painted by Gainsborough, is now in possession of Harvard University in the Peabody Museum. It is bequeathed to this university in the will of Edmund Cowper, Esq., of London. It shows the Count in the brilliant red coat of a retired army officer, as this portrait was painted in 1783. It represents the work of Gainsborough at the height of his career.

LONDON.—The English women police in London have been reduced by almost half since 1919, and the Government has been criticised by the Liberal Federation. Back in 1919 there were 144 women police officers, but this number had been decreased to twenty-five last year, and the Government has been criticised for the reduction. It is pointed out that the women police are as essential a force as the men, and it is suggested that the Government should be more considerate to the women police, and that they should be given the same pay and conditions as the men. It is also suggested that the women police should be given the same opportunities for promotion as the men, and that they should be given the same opportunities for training as the men. It is also suggested that the women police should be given the same opportunities for advancement as the men, and that they should be given the same opportunities for advancement as the men.

It is pointed out that the woman has become more preventive and more careful in her choice of men, and therefore women officers, if current trends continue, will be able to do a great deal of good work, especially in dealing with other women who will be with them.

The number of women police officers in the Los Angeles Police Department was reduced originally as a consequence of the 1945 anti-lynching campaign, which committee looked into, but the committee found that the "respective" committee could well do without, of 123 women officers, 100 are employed women on their police force.

ERRATIC FRENCH CHAMPION
WITHDRAWS FROM TOURNEY

Lenglen's Doctor Refuses to Allow Her to Play in Any More Matches—Previous Day's Set Too Much For Frenchwoman

MISS ELIZABETH RYAN COMES NEAR TO DEFEATING WONDER OF TENNIS COURTS

Vincent Richards Loses Out to the Young French Luminary, Bourbais, in the Most Exciting Match of the Day

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1.—Suzanne Lenglen, France's marvelous tennis champion, who has five times won the Wimbledon championship and holds the world's title, is out of the game. Her doctors have forbidden her to continue play in the present tournament, and she is under treatment for physical disability.

Yesterday's Match Too Much
Lenglen's strenuous match with Miss Elizabeth Ryan yesterday was a great strain on the champion, according to a statement made by Captain Bourbais, of the French team. Three weeks ago she was confined to bed with sunstroke and had not properly recovered when she began to play at Wimbledon.

Cause Sensation
The withdrawal of the French champion is the sensation of the Wimbledon tournament. Until she came to the city, the French team had flashed through the rounds of the women's singles without losing a game. In her contest against Miss Ryan she had to use all her skill and agility to win. Only Miss Kathleen Godwin had been so often beaten, and Miss Lenglen's victory over her was a triumph and a surprise.

Richards Defeated
Another surprise of the day was the defeat of Vincent Richards, of the United States, by Bourbais. Richards was favored from the start by the title against the French international but he was slimmed by the young Frenchman. Bourbais, whose sharp, dashing style made him a triumph at Wimbledon.

Wilson M. Washburn was the second of the United States players to be eliminated. Washburn was downed by the Frenchman, who won the match in four sets. The Frenchman's victory was a surprise, as he was not expected to win the match.

For the time being Jack Dempsey seems content to confine his smacks to the highly-colored and more heroic.

The nation would probably take more interest in the situation if it knew exactly what Senator Pendergast is doing.

It is to be hoped that the culprit who stole the money from the bank will be immediately. Mr. Leonard is in a bad way.

Despite severe and strict opposition from the Phillips and the most critical thing in baseball circles.

It seems that you that baseball is a nuisance.

Old Nick would look as out of place in the big hotel as he would in a hovel.

When Alcock lost his last one and came to the end of his career, he was a man of honor.

Work on the snappy throat of a diamond is a more difficult task than an intellectual's.

They pay Judge Ladd $4,500 a year to judge baseball. A lot of people are saying that he is a good judge.

Miss Nick went from pitching to clowning. She is now a clown.

W. J. Thompson Among Others to Be Decisively
Beaten at Toronto

Toronto, Ont., July 1.—While the greater majority of the action in the first round of the Canadian amateur golf championship was decided by the Canadian players, the British players were not without their share of success. W. J. Thompson, who was the title last year, was defeated by a local player, who won 18 to 12. Thompson was the only British player to win a match in the first round.

Two great cricket games were played Monday and Tuesday at Calgary. First day Edmonton were beaten 148 to 13. For Edmonton Weaver, Al. Hartley and Mann were 70 apiece, while Harrell, St. Thompson, St. Harrell and Thomas 52 were high men for Calgary.

Monday's Results
Edmonton 148 to 13. St. Thompson, St. Harrell and Thomas 52 were high men for Calgary.

Tuesday's Results
Edmonton 148 to 13. St. Thompson, St. Harrell and Thomas 52 were high men for Calgary.
